Note: The above scope of accreditation is based on the latest version of IAF MD 14, Annex A.

The scope of accreditation represents broad classifications granted by IAS on the basis of the validation and verification activities demonstrated by the validation/verification body (VVB). Accreditation is based on the competence and ability to effectively apply the requirements of the relevant standards listed in the VVB's scope of accreditation. IAS accreditation entails review of the VVBs own management system, on-site assessment of the VVB's validation/verification processes, review of VVB's access to expertise including onsite observation of the VVB when conducting validation/verification activities at client sites. Under the conditions of accreditation, the VVB is obligated to use equivalent validation/verification practices covering the specific scopes as listed for all clients and as demonstrated during the accreditation process. Accreditation does not cover verification in areas outside the scope of this accreditation certificate. Accreditation does not imply endorsement of the products, or the design or performance characteristics of products certified or verified by the VVB.
